

MY TRACTOR
WAS BUILT
TO LAST.

NOW MY KNEES ARE TOO.

"Farming's been my life. But after a lifetime of jumping off and on tractors and walking on uneven ground, I got osteoarthritis. When my doctor told me about MAKOplasty I didn't hesitate." - A.W. Pitts

Wilson Medical Center is the first hospital in Eastern North Carolina to offer this innovative treatment option for people with early to mid-stage osteoarthritis. And A.W. will be the first to tell you the benefits of this minimally invasive procedure over total knee replacement are many.

A.W. only farms part-time now, but he's more active than ever - traveling with his wife Bernice and running around with his grandchildren.

If you'd like to know more about how MAKOplasty could help you, call 252-399-8484 for more information.
