

“I wasn’t going to let my pain keep me from living life my way.”

- Frank W. Owens Jr., 84, retired firefighter

Great quality of life means different things to different people. For Frank Owens, quality means enjoying the outdoors.

Frank helped plenty of people in his 35 years as a firefighter. So when he needed help overcoming debilitating shoulder pain, he turned to Dr. Lewis Martin and the staff at Eastern Carolina Joint Replacement Center at Wilson Medical Center. Dr. Martin performed an advanced procedure to allow Frank to use deltoid muscles to move his shoulder.

The Orthopaedic specialists at Eastern Carolina Joint Replacement Center have helped countless patients regain mobility and ease pain. Providing a full spectrum of Orthopaedic care, our board-certified physicians and highly skilled staff offer excellent care and rehabilitation.

When you're ready to experience relief, call (252) 399-8357 for more information.
