

“I’d bake a cake for Dr. Martin any day. He and Wilson Medical Center gave me back my independence.

– Mabel McIntyre, 87, retired school teacher.

Great quality of life means different things to different people. For Mabel McIntyre, living her life meant being able to stay active and involved – in politics, in her community, baking and in the many activities she’s enjoyed with family and friends since retiring.

Mabel turned her concern over excruciating shoulder pain into a success story, by turning to Dr. Lewis Martin and the staff at Eastern Carolina Joint Replacement Center at Wilson Medical Center. Dr. Martin and his team at ECJRC got Mabel back to living life to the fullest by resurfacing, instead of replacing her shoulder.

The Orthopaedic specialists at Eastern Carolina Joint Replacement Center have helped countless patients regain mobility and ease pain. Providing a full spectrum of Orthopaedic care, our board-certified physicians and highly skilled staff offer excellent care and rehabilitation.
